DETAILED ACTION

Status of Application

1. The Examiner acknowledges receipt of the arguments filed on 08/19/2009.
2. Claims 1, 3 and 4 are presented for examination on the merits. The following rejections are made.

Response to Applicants' Arguments

3. Applicants arguments filed 08/19/2009 regarding the rejection of claims 1, 3 and 4 made by the Examiner under 35 USC 102(b) over Behan et al. (WO 00/19822) have been fully considered but they are not found persuasive.

4. The rejection of claims 1, 3 and 4 made by the examiner under 35 USC 102(b) is MAINTAINED for the reasons of record in the office action mailed on 06/04/2009.

5. In regards to the 102(b) rejection, Applicant asserts the following:

A) Citral diethyl acetal does not fall within the scope of the instantly rejected claims.

6. In response to A, the Examiner respectfully disagrees. The instant claims are directed to a method of repelling an insect comprising applying an insect repellent composition comprising at least one acetal or semi-acetal of the acyclic terpene (C10) exhibiting the following structure wherein the acetal or semi-acetal radicals represent a terpene radical. Citral diethyl acetal, as Applicant pointed out, has the following structure

. It's clear to the Examiner that citral diethyl acetal exhibits Applicants claimed C10 terpene radical wherein each oxygen is acylated with an ethyl moiety. Although it's not entirely clear, it appears that Applicant is arguing the products used by the instant method are produced by a different process from that of the Behan. If this is the case, this would not be persuasive because the products being used by the method would not be limited by how they are made, but rather by the function that they exhibit in the method in which they are being used, i.e. insect repellent.

Maintained Rejections, of Record
Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 1, 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Behan et al. (WO 00/19822; of record)

9. Behan is directed to repelling insects by applying various compounds. A preferred compound is that of citral diethyl acetal (see column 2, line 28). This compound is doubly unsaturated.

10. Thus, the present claims are anticipated by Behan.

Conclusion

11. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

12. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
